Human beings are far more than the one-dimensional creatures perceived by most of humanity and held static in consensus reality. There is a deep and vast body of knowledge — both ancient and emerging — that informs and gives us the understanding, through direct experience, that we are magnificent creatures occupying many dimensions with untold powers and connectedness to all that is.

Divine Arts books and films explore these realms, powers, and teachings through inspiring, informative, and empowering works by pioneers, artists, and great teachers from all the wisdom traditions. We invite your participation and look forward to learning how we may serve you.

THE DIVINE ART OF DYING
How to Live Well While Dying
KAREN SPEERSTRA & HERBERT ANDERSON

The Divine Art of Dying looks at the unique moment when a person turns toward death and examines what the dying person and his or her caregivers can expect. Based on the author’s own current experience, it’s about how we might die well and live well up to the very end of our physical existence. Over-informed and over-connected, people today seek deeper meaning and true connection — but they’re short on time and resistant to anything too didactic, religious, or long. In the tradition of Anne Lamott, Mitch Albom, and Rachel Naomi Remen, Recipes for a Sacred Life meets these needs with its short, true tales steeped in the magic of day-to-day life and the wisdom of ancient traditions.

Written with heart and humor, these interrelated tales are created around those everyday encounters — with friends, nature, lovers, and strangers — that can suddenly put us in touch with the sacred, adding love, connection, and purpose to our lives.

GAIA CALLS
South Sea Voices, Dolphins, Sharks & Rainforests
WADE DOAK

Gaia Calls compiles memoirs and descriptions of Wade Doak’s life as a young man in the Solomon Islands living among the islanders, to years of dolphin research, diving adventures, and more. Adventures begin when he and his wife, Jan, live with atoll dwellers and the shark callers of Laulasi in the Solomon Islands, move to his discovery that interspecies communication can exist with patience, focus, and respect for the natural world, then lead to his profound work with several species of wild dolphins. His meetings with his Maori friends reinforce his understanding that a great deal is to be learned from our indigenous neighbors, who hold a huge store of knowledge that has recently become more available to the Western world as our own way of life becomes less and less sustainable. Finally, we read of his explorations of his beloved New Zealand.
